The archery © types here listed in bold type are just some of the many old patterns that exist in human consciousness. Many arches © Additional types that are closely related are mentioned among the parameters, such as Hermit (found under Monica), Therapist (under Curander), or Pirate (under Rebel). Please read the whole list, looking at all the archery © types between partners, before assuming that the one you're looking for is not here. Of course, yeah. © Impossible to list all the hundreds of arches © existing types, but these are some of the most common, and include virtually everything that is © mentioned in my book, CD, or cassette of Sacred Contracts. If you feel like you have an arrow © type that is not here, do not hesitate to consider it carefully, and feel free to include you in your support team. Remember that all the arches © types are essentially neutral and manifest in both light and shadow attributes. So, I tried to include both sets of attributes for each listing, along with suggestions to help you determine whether a given arsenic © type can be part of your life support team of twelve people. To help you more, Yeve listed some examples of each Arab © kind as embodied in popular films, fiction, drama, and the religions and mythologies of the world. When assessing whether an air © type is part of your ntimo group, pay special attention to the possibility of perceiving a pattern of influence throughout your history, rather than just isolated or recent incidents. Never assess your connection to an arrow © like only by bookmarks. You have to stretch your imagination and bury yourself in yourself to discover your living patterns, lessons and gifts. This inner knowledge does not come easily. Addicted (Conspicuous Consumer, Glutton, Workaholic see also © m Gambler) Each of us © played by the Arab © like Addict. The only question is © know how much of our lives © consumed by it. To hello © m usual suspicions, alcohol, food and sex can be addicted to work, work, Television, exercise, computer games, spiritual practices, negative attitudes and the types of emotions that cause adrenaline. In its positive aspect, this archery © type helps you to recognize when an external substance, limit, relationship, or any expression of life has more authority over your will power than your inner spirit. Confronting the vacuum and breaking the one that a pattern or substance has on you can give great force to your psyche. Discovering the empowerment that comes with perseverance has an impact throughout life, making it a reference point for what is © able to perform. In the words of an ancient alcoholic, "I know now that if I can stop drinking, I can do everything. From a symbiotic perspective, the shadow aspect of the addict represents a struggle with the power of the will and the absence of self-control. People who are extremely intellectual or emotional often have a close connection with this archery. © Like, because they struggle to balance these powers. Without this internal equilibrium, the will can cede its power to an external substance that exercises authority, giving a shadow order to its life. The vicious shadow compromises your integrity and honesty. Many addicts, for example, steal as a means of sustaining their limit. When evaluating your connection to the addict, review how many of the challenges in your life.
Although this challenge makes up part of all our lives, the degree to which a guy controls him and his lifestyle determines whether the addict is part of his family of twelve people. For example, you may be inconsistent in your exercise programme but quite disciplined in your spiritual practice. Needing a substance or practice or person so intense or regularly that it compromises relationships, finances, integrity, character or emotional and psychological well-being, indica t es, however, that it should a very long appearance this arch@type as a possible choice. Films: Jack Lemmon and Lee Remick in Days of Wine and Roses (alcohol); Ben Stiller in Permanent Midnight (heroÃna); Gift of Luise in Fatso (food); Claire Bloom in The Chapman Report (sex); Drama: A Long DayŢs Journey into Night (morphine) by Eugene OÅ¢Neill Fiction: Basketball Diaries (heroÃna) by Jim Carroll; Under the Volcano (mescal) by Malcolm Lowry. Religion/Myth: Soma (va©dic god of intoxication, as well as the very intoxicating drink and the plant from which it © made); Tantalus (son of Zeus and king© of Sipylos in Greece, was invited to share the food of the gods but abused the honor and was punished for being aneternity for food and drink that did not reach). Lawyer (Lawyer, Defender, Legislator, Lobbyist, Environmentalist) Come in defense of others © a manifestation of what Ram Dass calls Compassion in AcçççO.â The Lawyer embodies a sense of devotion vitally to the defense of the rights of others in the public arena. People who relate to this arches@type recognized from an early age a passion for transforming social concerns, specifically on behalf of others. Symbolically, they are dedicated to inspiring the empowerment of groups or causes that cannot be empowered by themselves. In a commnato, arch©types like Hermit are clearly more personal and lack the fire of the Advocateã¢s to promote social change. The Lawyer needs public expression, even if only through © writing or works of art. The Shadow Attorney manifests himself in false or negative causes or in committing himself to causes in personal benefit. When evaluating your link to this arches@type, you should question how much of your life is @ dedicated to social causes and a willingness to act. Films: Paul Newman in The Verdict; Spencer Tracy in Inherit the Wind; Julia Roberts in The Pelican Brief and Erin Brockovich; Robert Duvall in the Godfather trilogy (shadow). Television: Perry Mason; L.A. Law; The Practice. Fiction: Devil and Daniel Webster by Stephen Vincent Benet Fairy Tales: Puss in Boots. Religion/Myth: David (in the Hebrew Bible, the Jewish champion who killed the much larger Goliath); Hakuim (a ©-Islâmica deity of south Arã¡bia who administers the fairand oversees arbitration) Alchemist (Magician, Magician, Scientist, Inventor Interesting Place) also visionã©m) These arch©types share the common characteristic of converting some form of © into an altered expression of oney. The Mage and the Wizard produce results outside the normal rules of life, whether causing people to fall in love or objects to go away. While a Mage is associated with supernatural powers, the Mage tends to be seen more as an artist. The alchemist is associated with vain attempts to turn base metals into gold, but at its highest manifestation seeks complete spiritual transformation. You can identify with this arch@type if you are interested in a path of spiritual development that is aligned with the schools of mystery© or study of the laws of the universe. In this perspective, Nostradamus and Isaac Newton can be classified as alchemists. The shadow sides of these ©types are found in the misuse of power and knowledge that comes © them. Seduction and tricks brought through the magic game about the desires of many people to transform their lives. For the Alchemist or Wizard to be one of his twelve cells, he needs to be associated with his somewhat meaningful physical life. Perhaps your work or life situation requires you to be especially inventive or interventionist on a regular basis. The Wizard of Shadows manifests himself either as the use of naivety for criminal or anti©purposes, or as feelings of superiority based on the high intellect. Films: Spencer Tracy in Edison the Man; Greer Garson in Madame Curie; Anthony Michael Hall as Bill Gates and Noah Wylie as Steve Jobs in Pirates Silicon Valley (HBO video); Fred Macmurray (or Robin Williams) in The The The Teacher; Katharine Hepburn at the African Queen; Jane Powell in seven brides for seven sisters; Jeff Goldblum on the fly (Shadow); Patrick Stewart and Ian McKellan (Shadow) in X-Men. Fiction: the alchemist by Paulo Coelho; Avalon's N ips by Marion Z. Bradley; SA © Rie Harry Potter by J.K. Rowling; Adventures of Alice in Wonderland by Lewis Carroll. Drama: The miraculous worker by William Gibson. Religion / Myth: Merlin (assistant and prophet involved in all stages of King Arthur's life, from the conception to the government, who also advised him as king); Cease (Magician who became the first Queen of Ireland); Tezcatlipoca (God Aztec of things and material things, whose skinny black mirror made of obsidian or hematite manipulation of reality capable of traveling freely between the various realms and dimensions); Simon (Magician Samaritano in the book of Acts, 8: 9-24, sentenced by the apostolo Peter to offer to buy the power of his holy spirit); Suyolak (Gypsy assistant said to know all the medicinal cures). Fairy tales: rumpelstiltskin (which turned straw in gold) Angel (fairy godmother / godfather) The angels exist in a category to themselves because they are considered living beings of light and Messengers of the Divine. Almost all cultural and religious tradition of Earth presents angels of some description, including the crescence in an angel of personal guard in the Jewish, Christian and Islamic traditions

The angels are typically represented as winged beings that intervene in times of great need or for the purpose of delivering a message of guidance or instruction from God to human beings. Same You probably will not be a real angel, you can recognize forte ligação ao reino angélico, como se observa nas pessoas que se dedicam a representar a presença dos anjos. Artistas que pintam as suas imagens, por exemplo, autores que escrevem sobre a sua interacção com o reino angélico. Algumas pessoas também são referidas como "anjos" devido à s qualidades amorosas e nutritivas do carácter que encarnam. Também se pode desempenhar o papel de Fada Madrinha ou Padrinho, ajudando alguém em necessidade, anonimamente ou sem qualquer expectativa de retorno. O lado sombra deste arquétipo manifesta-se através de pessoas que afirmam estar em contacto com a orientação angélicas para fins de controlo ou melhoramento do ego, ou que agem inocentes ou angélicas para enganar os outros sobre a sua verdadeira natureza. De uma perspectiva bÃblica, o Anjo Sombra é frequentemente associado a Satanás ou Lúcifer, mas o Diabo ou Demónio também deve ser considerado como um arquétipo único. Filmes: Herbert Marshall em The Enchanted Cottage; Charles Coburn em The More the Merrier; Aunt March to Amy em Little Women; os dois anjos em Itâs A Wonderful Life; Marlon Brando em The Godfather trilogy (sombra); Danny Glover, Kevin Kline em Grand Canyon. Frank Baum Religion/Myth: Angiris (Hindu angels who preside over sacrifices); Uriel (in rabbinic lore, the angel who wrestled with Jacob); Gabriel (archangel who appeared to Mary in the Gospels and recited the Quran to the Prophet Muhammad); Sijil (Islamic angels overseeing the heavenly scrolls); Tenshi (Japanese angels who are messengers of the gods and helpers of humanity); Lucifer and Iblis (in medieval Christian and Islamic belief, respectively, evil angels who guide the souls of the dead to Ombwiri (tribal guardian) and ancestral species in Central Africa; Athena (goddess who frequently comes in Odist's help in The Odisia) Artist a (Artisan, Craftsperson, Sculptor, Weaver) The artistic psyche is © with the energy to express it in physical forms. The relative nature or magnitude of any form of expression is © irrelevant; a chef can be as much of an artist as a painter or landscaper. The signature of artists is not in what they do, but in the intensity of their motivation to manifest the extraordinability. Doing what you do in such a way that you create an emotional field that inspires others also indicates the artistic energy at work, as well as the emotional and psychological need to express yourself so much that your well©being is wrapped in this energy. The shadow artist understands many clichés, including an excêntrica nature and the madness that often accompanies genius. The Hungry Artist represents the fear of financial ruÃna or the hope that fame and fortune only come after death.
which often causes artists to suppress their talents. When evaluating your relationship with this arches@type, re-recognize that the need to bring art to others, how to devote part of the energy of your life to supporting artists@ both an expression of the Artist@type archeotype and actually hold a brush in your hand. Athlete (OlÃmpico) This archeo©type represents the final expression of the human spirit's fort, as represented in the power and magnificence of the human body. As the Pottery is so connected to spiritual strength as well as physical, a code of © and morality is associated with the archeo©type, which is on excellent example of the universal power of the ìÅpsycheà à ã o of an arch©type. A link to the athlete should not be evaluated by whether his physical ability is on par with that of the professionals or if his body is perfect in shape and function. A person dedicated to transcending the limits of a physical handicap qualifies as much for this archeso type as the professional or artistic athlete, because the development of personal power and Avenger (Vengeful Angel, Savior, Messiah) This archetype© and its related manifestations respond to the need to balance the scales of justification, sometimes© using aggressive tactics. Lawyers who work for the poor or disadvantaged, or who offer part of their time to work pr bono are modern avengers. Bringing war criminals to trial or legally pursuing corporations that harm society are examples of the Avenger on a global scale, fueled by a sense of righteousment on behalf of society. One can also ©m motivated to avenge an injustice against himself or against the Family Una Belos. The Vengeful Angel is © an expression of this arches©type of aesthetic proportions that suggests that one is in a mission of God, as in the case of Joan of Arc. It's easy to believe that the archery © Beggar Type © Just a negative, but this is © A person does not need to go hungry for food to be considered a beggar.

People are asking for attention, love, authority and material objects. We're on the table throwing a boneless dog to make an impotent god of power. From a symbiotic perspective, the air © Beggar type represents a test that compels a person to confront self-empowerment by starting at the level of physical survival. Learning about the nature of generosity, compassion and self-esteem are fundamental to this archeological pattern. Films: Patrick Swazye in the City of Hope. "Oliver Twist" by Charles Dickens. The Prick and the Pause by Mark Twain. Non Fiction: Meet Madwoman by Linda Schierse Leonard, Ph.D. Religion/Myth: Lazarus (the beggar in Luke 16:22-23, who is © by the angels to the bount of Abraham" after his death, while the rich man out of whose door he begged was to Hades; Yeta (Beggar Japanese which can be a disguise for Inari, the god of food or goddess of rice); Odysseus (who was distantiated as a ragged beggar when he returned home to Troy); Lan Cai-he (in the Taoist myth, one of the eight immortals, who dresses in rags and wanders the streets like a b	ilde{A}^{	ext{0}}bado beggar). Bully The archeo © type of the Bully manifests the central truth that the spirit is © ever stronger than the body. Symbolically, our physical bodies can âbully\hat{a} our specs with any number of reasons why we must retreat from our challenges, which seem to crush us by their size and shape. Your relationship with this arch@type should be evaluated within a much broader structure than assessing whether you 'bullyaf people. Consider whether on your way of life you confront an experience and relationship after another that seems to have more power than you and, in last year, leads you to ask: aWill I face this challenge?a Often people are called to take on the bullies because of others, as David did Goliath, and this © another © of his connection with this © type. Conventional wisdom holds that, beneath a bully, a coward © trying to prevent others from discovering their true identity. Symbolically, the Coward inside must stand up to be intimidated by his own internal fears, which is © the way © to strengthening through these two arch ©types. Movies: Matt Dillon in My Bodyguard; Jack Palance in Shane; Mel Gibson in Braveheart; James Cagney in The Fighting 69th; Bert Lahr in The Wizard of Oz.; Jack Nicholson in As Good as It Gets. Fiction: The Red Emblem of Courage by Stephen Vincent Benet. Fairy tales: Jack and the Bean; Jack the Giant Killer Child (Orphan, Wounded, Magical/Innocent, Nature, Divine, Puer/Puella Eternis, or Eternal Boy/Girl) Everyone has expressions of each of these aspects of the child within his psyche, psyche, An important © is so dominant that it eclipses the energy of others. The injured child, for example, may be so in need of that it is © impossible for the magical child to manifest their qualities. At the same time, because each of the child aspects is present in various degrees of fortine in all psyches, similar patterns usually overlap, making it difficult to distinguish which one of them you relate to more intensely. You may discover that it also relates to the injured son and the injured child, or to the puer eternis and the child of nature. When this is © the case, choose one and include the specific qualities that you relate to in the other arch ©type while you investigate the psyche of that arch ©type while you investigate the psyche of that arch ©type in your life. Child: The child's child the © the main character in the stories of better-known children, including Little Orphan Annie, the girl of the fÃ3sforo toothpicks, Bambi, the little mermaid, Hansel and Gretel, Snow White, Cinderella, and more. The pattern in these stories is © reflected in the lives of people who feel of birth as if they were not part of their family, including the psyche of the family or the tribal spirit. However, precisely because the trees are not allowed in the family room, they have to develop independence in the beginning of life. The ausance of family influence, attitudes and traditions inspires or comfactors the child to build an inner reality based on personal judgment and experience. People who manage to find a path of survival on their own are celebrated in fairy tales and folk stories as having won a battle with a dark forg, which symbolically represents the fear of surviving alone in this world. The shadow aspect manifests itself when oils never recover from growing outside the family room. Feelings of abandonment and the scar tissue of family rejection stifle their maturation, often causing them to look for family structures to try out the Tribal Union. Therapeutic support groups become shadow tribes or families for a child who In the background that healing these wounds requires passing for adulthood. Identifying with the tree begin evaluating your infancy memories, paying special attention to whether your painful history arises from the feeling that you have never been accepted as a member of the family. Movies: Margaret OÃ ¢ â € ¬ â "¢ Brien in the Secret Garden; Victoire Thivisol in Ponette; Hayley Mills in Pollyanna. Myth: Romulus and Remus (Roman Myth Games that were released in Tiber, miraculously rescued by a wolf, and began to find Rome); Moses; Havelock The Dane (in Medieval Romance, Birkabegn's Urfan Son, King of Denmark, launches derives from betrayal guardians, but found and created by a British fisherman and eventually made king of Denmark and part of England). Child: Wounded Infant Infant Arquine Keeps Memories of Abuse, Neglect and other traumas that we suffer during infancy. This can be the pattern that people relate to more, especially since they became the focus of therapy and accepted as a great guilty in the analysis of adult suffering. Choosing the injured child suggests that you credit the painful and abusive experiments of your infancy with a substantial influence on your adult life. Many people blame their injured child, for example, for all their subsequent dysfunctional relationships. The painful experiences of the Infant Infidal Arquine Many times awaken a deep sense of compromise and a desire to find a service path to help other injured children. From a spiritual perspective, a wounded infancy cracks the path of forgiveness. The shadow aspect can manifest itself as a permanent sense of autopiety, a tendency to blame their parents for their current deficiencies and resist for forgiveness. Movies: Movies: Movies: Movies: Scarwid in Mommie Dearest; Dean Stockwell in the Secret Garden; Linda Blair in the Exorcist; Natalie Wood in the Miracle on the 34th Street; Leonardo di Caprio in this BoyÅ ¢ s Life; Jon Voight in Midnight Cowboy. said he communicated with animals). Child: Puer/Puella Eternis (Eternal Boy/Girl) Positive aspects of the arches©type manifest themselves as a determination to remain eternally young in the body, mind and spirit. People who maintain that age will never stop them from enjoying life are relying on the positive energy of this arches©type to provide this healthy attitude. The Eternal Child shadow often manifests itself as an inability to grow and embrace the responsible life of an adult. Like Peter Pan, he resists the end of a life cycle in which he is © free to live outside the bounds of conventional adulthood. The shadow Puella Eternis can manifest itself in women as extreme dependonof those who take care of their political security. A consistent inability to be invoked and the inability to accept the aging process are © also markers of this © type. Although few people dell the end of his youth, the Eternal Child © sometimes left flowing and not rounded between the sts of life, because he did not put a foundation to a functional adult life. The devouring, abusive, abandoning and worker represent, each, different aspects of this primordial architant within all community and human. Although the hands have always worked, the contemporary type of career or working career reflects the crises experienced by many women who also seek to be dedicated mothers. Measured against the impossible realistic ideal of the perfect mother, the career mother is sometimes unfairly assumed as a hand that puts its own before the children. This is an archetypal crisis for many women. The Devouring Mother
"consume" her children psychologically and emotionally and often incute in them feelings of guilt in leaving her or becoming independent. Abusive and Abandoned Mother's archetype should not be measured only if a woman is a biological mother. If you are intimately linked to nurture and protect the environment, including through gardening or agriculture, or support any form of life, you should strongly consider whether your bond with the Mother archetype in the form of one or all of your shadows Although it is difficult to admit, some women may have to face the fact that their children see them through the Abusive Mother or Abandoning. Just as women can have a real connection with the archetype of the Father when they assume the paternal role in the house, so some men can relate to being "Mr.
Mother", another contemporary sculpture of the Mother archetype. The qualities that are associated with this archetype can be expressed in other biological forms, such as giving birth books or ideas, or nurturing others. Symbolically, her courtroom could be anything from a corporation to your house. The image of the Queen of Darkness or Evil has been largely represented by male authors of fairy tales and folklore as a perverse and dark force. It can also be portrayed as prone to hysteria and dark powers, influences or plots, as in the story of Snow White. Gulliver's Journey presents a benevolent queen who governs the land of the giants, but this is a rare exception. The queen's archetype is also associated with arrogance and a defensive posture that is symbolic of a need to protect personal and emotional power. Queens are rarely portrayed as having a reliable support system; instead, they aresomany surrounded by a courtroom full of potential traitors, rivals and thiefs. Anne Rice: a The Vampvre: The Talea of John Polidori. Religion/Mito: Vlad Tepes, also known as Vlad The Impaler (in Walachiaain, modern Romania of the 15th century, the bloodthirsty count who allegedly impaled and decapitated his enemies); Langsoir (July vampire, a woman who died in childbirth and now attacks babies and children). Victim (see text for extended discussion) The negative features of the Victim are evident by themselves. But when properly recognized, it can be tremendous help to make us know when we are in danger of letting ourselves be vicious, often through precipitate or improper actions. It can also help us to see our own tendency to victimize others in personal gain. In its shadow aspect, the Victim shows us that we may enjoy playing the Victim sometimes due to the positive feedback we receive in the form of sympathy or piety. Our goal is to always learn to recognize these inappropriate attitudes in us or others, and to act accordingly. Films: Hillary Swank in Boys Donât Cry; Jodie Foster

Drama: Torch Song Trilogy by Harvey Fierstein Religion/Myth: Isaac (son of Abraham to whom God commands Abraham to sacrifice); Heracles (taught by Busiris, mythical king of Egypt who sacrificed all strangers to the gods to avoid hunger, Heracles avoided being victimized using his great strength to break his chains and kill Busiris). Virgin (see also Celibate) This archetype is associated with purity, mainly applied to young girls. The Vestal Virgins of ancient Rome lived in the service of a goddess and were often severely punished if they lost their virginity. The Virgin Mother of Jesus represents the purity of motherhood, To light the perfect form of male life, a god. prudent disgust or fear of genuine sensuality. Resisting sex does not save energy for other efforts, but because it seems inherently repellent, it is not © a virtue, but a denial of an essential aspect of itself. Celibacy Monks or Nuns ideally learn to channel their sexual energy rather than repress it with immersion. Kirstin Dunst et al. in The Virgin Suicides; Jennifer Jason Leigh in Fast Times at Ridgemont High. Religion/Myth: Parthenos (Greek to Virgin, A¢ an epithet of the goddess of the heart, and, by extension, the © life. Visionary (Dreamer, Prophet, Seer olso, Guide, Alchemist) The archeo©type Visionã¡rio allows you to imagine possibilities that are to go © the heart of your individual life and that benefit the whole society. The Visionary brings into view what it could be if certain choices were made, or what is © given the choices that have already been made. The Prophet proclaims a message associated with divine guidance, as in the Hebrew Prophets, some of whom also appear in the Koran. (Islão reveres both Jesus and John the Baptist and prophets). Both the Visionary and the Prophet engage in their abilities in the group they were sent to enlighten, the Visionans tend to be celebrated for their ability to read what is even along the horizon. The Shadow Prophet or Visionary manifests itself as a willingness to sell its visionary capabilities to the bidder, to change your vision to make it more acceptable to society. So the Arrow © Destroyer type can replace Vision, as in the case of Hitler, Stalin and Mao. Movies: Eriq Ebouaney in Lumumba; Peter Finch in the net. Religion/Myth: Hebrew Prophets (Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and others who often punished powerful powers while calling attention to the people for their own faults); Maoma © (The final Prophet of Israel, who sent the message of Godno Ahab to the Arab people through © is of the Koran; Baha (Iranian prophet of the sl) © 19th century that founded the Fan © Bahai, spreading its vision of 152A universal cause, a faith. Cassandra (in Greek folklore, daughter of the King and Queen of Troy, who received the gift of prophecy from Apollo in an attempt to

Un a © a. While the Horseman is associated with the Warrior is connected to invincibility and loyalty. Both the Horseman and the Warrior appear on the battlefield, but the romance of Cool Knightece, chivalry and bountiful castle are not associated with the Warrior. The warrior energy © Erectic for the male, representing the height of virility and physical power, as well as the hardness of the will and of the spirit. To be unbreakable and fight until © the death © a large part of the Sahara © Warrior type, that too © He is associated with the passage from childhood to manhood. The Mercenary and the Soldier of Fortune are varied about the hired killer who sells his power in the open market, often with total contempt for the prosecuting cause. These archery © Guys are very much like the Whore though they seem negative, in your favor warn us when we are in danger of aligning our power with an unjust or purely selfish cause. The Gunslinger and samurai represent a double-edged sword (pun intended). They appeal to our fantasies of independence and the power to defend ourselves and the righteous, but they also carry the historical weight of wild and predatorious evil. On the one hand are all the heroic characters portrayed by John Wayne, Gary Cooper and others - facing unfairly and retaining the evil forts alone. The Lone Ranger and the figures of wandering samurai warriors in Akira Kurosawa©'s films are also the epAtome of this fiercely independent warrior that the American and Japanese past seem to share. And on the other side are all the egoist and evil thiefs and murderers who embody our worst nightmares of anarchy and uncontrolled male domen. Somewhere in the middle are the ambiguous "Crime Fighters" and "Lunfighters" of solitarian wolves epitomized by Clint Eastwood, whose hero is © dyed with rage, revenge, and more than a little sadism. The shadow warrior distorts or abandons the principle of © and decAncia in the name of the vitAria at any cost. What can be an indifference to the risk and the pain lessbee when the indifference a © directed not to itself but to others. The warrior © is as attached to the female psyche as the male one. There is much that women are defenders of their families, and the Amazon tribe of Warrior Women has become lendaria due to their ability to engage in fierce battles - sacrificing even © part of their female physical to facilitate the war. Loyalty to the family and the tribe is among the news characteristics of the Amazon, along with the education of its young people and the transmission of power and self-defense. In today's society, the Warrior Woman has emerged in her glorify once again through © women who free and protect others, especially and children who need vocal
