Astrologer' s day questions answers

	Activities of the Astrologer

PLOT

This story moves around an astrologer's business day. Everyday the Astrologer, who is not given a name, had a working analysis of mankind's troubles until he received a signal for him to go. He is presented as a cheater who seems to be one of the many vendors in India. By dressing and behaving in a particular manner, his business is done effectively by giving this impression of a blessed man with a 'sharpened perception'. One day, while, he was leaving, a man stood before him, a client. This one didn't want the Astrologer's common method. Guru Nayak, the client, wanted him to answer the questions, he, asked, and negotiated a price for the Astrologer to answer them, but if he prove the Astrologer was a bluffing, he would return his pay. Nevertheless he answered correctly each of them, explaining what exactly happened to Guru Nayak when he was young, he used a convincing but tricky reply so he was no longer involved, as the Astrologer himself had been associated to what happened to the client when he was younger.
